MUSEUM OPERATIONS UPDATE

Archive Update

Samantha Lawrence updated members on the archives. She indicated that the Museum received a grant from the Questers to repair 10 items, primarily from the Van Hoosen Farmhouse. The Historic Sites collection (approx. 20 boxes) has been fully digitized, facilitating more efficient research into local building and house histories. The latest Found In Collection archival publication raised approximately $2,300 in donations for the collection fund. The Museum currently employs one paid intern who is completing her Master's degree and is expected to graduate in the spring or summer of 2026. She also explained that the first major portion of the Broomfield collection has been cataloged and digitized, featuring correspondence and photos involving world leaders such as Jimmy Carter and Queen Elizabeth. Discussion ensued.

Museum Program/America250 update

Cathy Fitzpatrick updated members on Museum programs. She explained that the Museum utilizes SurveyMonkey to gather feedback; recent comments highlight high satisfaction with staff and facilities. Other feedback also led to finding high school students to open the schoolhouse this Christmas, addressing the need for more use, along with the Museum considering upgrading to chairs with arms to improve accessibility for elderly guests.

Museum Update

Pat McKay updated members on the new full-time ground's maintenance position approved by City Council. This role will oversee custodial services, seasonal staff, and work with local garden clubs to maintain the 16-acre site. The position is currently being reviewed by Human Resources; internal posting is expected with a start date in early January 2026.

McKay gave a briefing on Museum finances. The Museum receives revenue streams from private events and Crank's Catering which remain significant revenue sources, and are heavily influenced by alcohol sales. He also discussed the current endowment fund, which stands at approximately $921,000 as of October 2025. The goal is to reach $1 million by year-end and eventually $9 million for long-term self-sufficiency. The Museum also received an unannounced estate donation of $188,000 to be used specifically for operations. He also mentioned that the Big Barn fund has received its first donation of $500. Discussion ensued.

Big Barn Concept Review and Discussion

Attachments: Big Barn Drawing & Renderings.pdf
AS-2 Site Plan.pdf

Pat McKay discussed the conceptual drawings and planning for the Big Barn. He briefly discussed the history of the barn and indicated the goal is to recreate the building exactly as it was. Some challenges that have arisen from this project include parking and zoning issues. Rochester city officials have been very supportive in advancing this project. The conceptual plans include a three-story, heavy timber building featuring a lobby, exhibit space, conference meeting room, a video room, and modern restrooms with exterior access for site users. Museum offices and archival storage will move to the Big Barn, allowing current office spaces in the Dairy Barn to be converted into flexible programming space and traveling exhibit space. The projected cost is approximately $5.5 million, if delayed until 2030, the cost is estimated to rise to $7 million. It was suggested to seek additional funds to create an endowment for the Big Barn, covering future operating, electrical, and heating costs, ensuring long-term maintenance. One way to do this is by giving donors an opportunity to name interior spaces, leaving a legacy for their family and the Museum. Erin Sudrovec proposed a more structured, collaborative approach to sponsorships across city departments to avoid overlapping. It was agreed that now is the time to start creating a gift chart and coordinating fundraising asks across the city departments to avoid donor fatigue and maximize contributions. Discussion ensued.

Joe Snyder congratulated Pat McKay for being named Grand Marshall for the Rochester Christmas Parade.
